The group is driving its transformation forward based on an energy mix that combines nuclear and renewable power. In France, it is implementing an industrial strategy of extending the operating life of nuclear power plants beyond 40 years by investing €45 billion in the Grand Carénage programme for the period 2014-2025. Elsewhere, its subsidiary EDF Énergies Nouvelles is developing positions in new markets: South Africa, Brazil, Chile, India and China.